

1. Introduction

Welcome to the Human Resource Automation System of the Department of Education – Bayugan City Division, a digital platform purposefully developed to support the Division’s core transactional processes in human resource management. This system is designed to improve the efficiency, accuracy, and transparency of HR operations by digitizing employee records and aligning with the standards of the Civil Service Commission (CSC), particularly through integration with the Program to Institutionalize Meritocracy and Excellence in Human Resource Management (PRIME-HRM).

The system is composed of two interrelated components:

1. Human Resource Records Management System (HR-RMS)
2. PRIME-HRM Compliance Monitoring and Reporting Module

Together, these components support both day-to-day HR transactions and long-term strategic HR goals. The HR-RMS focuses on the management of employee records, including 201 files, appointment documents, service records, leave-cards, and other personnel-related data. It enables secure digital archiving, document tracking, automated routing, and centralized access to records — significantly reducing the manual workload of HR staff and improving the responsiveness of HR services.

The PRIME-HRM Module, on the other hand, supports the implementation, monitoring, and documentation of compliance across the four critical HR systems defined by CSC:

- Recruitment, Selection and Placement (RSP)
- Learning and Development (L&D)
- Performance Management System (PMS)
- Rewards and Recognition (R&R)

This module enables the Division to track its PRIME-HRM progress, manage supporting documents, and generate CSC-compliant reports for validation and accreditation. It is particularly designed to assist the Division in moving toward higher maturity levels under the PRIME-HRM framework by institutionalizing merit-based, competency-driven, and evidence-supported HR practices.

Additionally, the system is built in compliance with the Data Privacy Act of 2012 (RA 10173) to ensure the confidentiality, integrity, and proper handling of all personal and sensitive data of teaching and non-teaching personnel. Access controls, audit logs, and secure document storage are in place to maintain data security and user accountability.

This User Guide is intended for HR personnel, administrative officers, school heads, and Division supervisors who interact with the system in support of their respective functions. It provides a comprehensive walkthrough of the system's interface, features, and functionalities — from record creation and updating to report generation and compliance tracking.

Through the effective use of this system, the DepEd Bayugan City Division strengthens its commitment to professionalizing HR services, promoting good governance, and ensuring that its human resource processes are aligned with both national policies and local priorities.

3. User Roles & Access

The HR Records Management System is designed to support the implementation of PRIME-HRM by streamlining human resource processes and documentation, in alignment with CSC standards for public sector HR systems. To ensure data integrity, transparency, operational efficiency, and compliance, the system employs a Role-Based Access Control (RBAC) structure—assigning access levels based on the user’s role within the organization to maintain appropriate visibility and control.

In addition to role-based access, the system is also permission-based, allowing for the assignment of special access privileges to specific individuals. This caters to users who are designated to perform specialized tasks beyond their standard roles—such as generating compliance reports, managing specific document categories, assisting with digital archiving, or participating in evaluation and ranking processes under PRIME-HRM components like RSP, PMS, L&D, and R&R. This flexible and secure access model enhances accountability and supports the dynamic needs of the organization while ensuring consistency with PRIME-HRM guidelines.

7.7. All About Logging Out

Logging out properly ensures the security and integrity of your personal and organizational data. This guide provides simple, step-by-step instructions for logging out of the system safely.

7.7.1. Why Logging Out Matters

- Security:
Prevents unauthorized access to sensitive HR records.
- System Performance:
Frees up server resources.
- Compliance:
Supports proper audit trails and system logging as part of the Automation System, particularly the HR-RMS and PRIME-HRM protocols.

7.7.2. Steps to Log Out of the HRAS

1. Locate the User Menu
 - After logging in, look to the top-right corner of the dashboard.
 - You will see your name initials or profile picture (if you uploaded a profile picture).
2. Open the Drop-Down Menu
 - Click the icon or your name to open a small menu.
 - This menu typically contains options like:
3. Click “Log Out”
4. Wait for Redirect
 - The system will log you out (end your session) and redirect you to the login page or a “You have successfully logged out” screen.

7.7.3. Best Practices When Logging Out

- Always log out manually before closing your browser.
- Avoid using browser “X” or closing tabs without logging out.
- Don’t share your login session with others.
- Use strong passwords and enable two-factor authentication if available.

Note: Even though the system is equipped with an auto-session ender routine (a coded routine that logs out the user account automatically due to inactivity in a specific span of time), it is still recommended to properly log out your account for data integrity and data privacy.

7.7.4. What to Do if You Can't Log Out

- System unresponsive? Try refreshing the page.
- Still stuck? Close your browser completely, then clear your browser cache.
- Contact IT Support if the issue persists.
